MAN MEETS RESOURCES AT SGWU AUGUST 30

Concern about the James Bay project, inadequate sewage facilities, and all questions relating to the environmental screw-up will be aired August 30 when a regional assembly, sponsored by the Canadian Council of Resource Ministers, meets at Sir George Williams University.

The theme of the conference is Man and Resources; but organizers are expressly interested in public participation and want to dispel the idea that environmental problems are intelligible only to university researchers.

The meetings are designed to set priorities in environmental planning.

Sir George's own technological planning group, PLUTO, is handling arrangements for the Sir George meeting.
